

AD Summer at last!

dive in
with hollywood
hitmaker
RYAN MURPHY
& family

PLUS kit kemp's colorful london house /
a charming paris flat / 24 bucket-list hotels /
the ultimate adirondacks lodge

“Robert Kime told me that he always advises clients to put the kitchen in the best room of the house,” Kemp explains.

A decade ago, the empty nesters’ kitchen, located at the front of the house, was relocated to the rear of the building, taking over what had been an elegant oblong drawing room. “[AD100 decorator] Robert Kime told me that he always advises clients to put the kitchen in the best room of the house,” Kemp notes of the space, where custom-made cabinets follow the curved walls. “Everybody ends up in the kitchen anyway.” Off the kitchen, she and Tim built a conservatory-cum-dining space, a glass-walled volume that connects to a welcoming stone terrace. Elsewhere, the dramatically beamed attic became a yoga studio—it’s since become the master bedroom—as well as home to the couple’s gleaming grand piano, a beloved fixture, even though Kemp admits, “We both play extremely badly.”

THE KEMPS’ MOST RECENT domestic metamorphosis was

OUT PERFORMERS

Keen to prettify your patch of land (whether parkland or patio) but unsure which decorating products are tough enough? Putting these outdoor fabrics, surfaces and paints through their paces, Maude Smith reckons they can withstand bad weather till the cows come home. Photography: Hermiane McCosh